

FMIC brings a new beginning to Khadija's life.

1

The curious girl

Khadija was a curious and adventurous child who liked to explore. One day, while playing, she accidentally put a light bulb in her mouth.

The dilemma for her family

Khadija's parents were occupied with work and didn't see her put the light bulb in her mouth. She started coughing an hour later, and they took her to the closest hospital in Panjshir. However, since they lacked facilities, they were told to go to Kabul instead.

Those fruitless attempts

Khadija's parents were concerned about her health and visited four hospitals, but none could help. They were losing hope until they were referred to FMIC and met Dr Mohammad Tareq Rahimi, Head of Paediatric Surgery.

The light at the end of the tunnel!

Dr Tareq Rahimi is an experienced surgeon who had done similar surgeries before. Khadija had a light bulb lodged in her lung tissue, and the only way to remove it was through open surgery, which Dr Rahimi and his team performed.

Between hope and despair

Khadija's parents trusted Dr Tareq Rahimi and his team, despite the surgery's risks. The surgery was successful without any complications, and they were delighted to see Khadija healthy and happy again.

The jubilant family!

Khadija's parents appreciated Dr Tareq Rahimi and his team's excellent work and were surprised that they no longer needed to travel abroad for their daughter's treatment. Despite the danger caused by Khadija's adventurous nature, she was safe with the help of Dr Tareq Rahimi and his team.

Sharing the financial burden

Khadija's family couldn't afford the full cost of her surgery, but the FMIC Patient Welfare Department provided significant financial assistance. As a result, they left FMIC feeling hopeful and optimistic about their future.
